

A United State

For such a long time America has been divided,
Now we're becoming a country that is united.

September 11, 2001 will never be forgotten,
Nor the accused Osama bin Laden.

Terrorist crashed into New York City's twin towers,
The Pentagon was hit in less than an hour.

This news left the world terribly shaken,
But now America has been awakened.

We were taken by total surprise,
But up from the ashes we shall arise.

Thousands of lives were lost and many died as heroes,
As they sifted through the rubble at ground zero.

We're about to engage in warfare,
Citizens are uniting spirituality in prayer.

Some think war is all about retaliation,
This is about self-defense of our nation.

We shall unite as one nation under God,
For our eyes have been opened wide.

We are not fearful but we are brave,
And the star spangled banner yet does wave.

May God shed his grace on us,
For it is in him that we must trust.

We are yet a land that is free,
We shall march on to victory.

Togetherness is something that the enemy hates,
Together we stand as the United States.

© Rose L. Greene 2001